

Our Q3 event will focus on inclusion and advancement in the workforce. We will explore data on the representation of women in mining and other industries in natural resources, the departure of women at three different life points, women in leadership positions, and overcoming common challenges in the workforce so that you can get your ideas heard and plan for advancing in the industry.

EVENT DETAILS:

Dr. Jessica Solyom "How to get your ideas heard"
Friday, September 20th, 2019 5:30-7:00pm
Arizona Science Center
Phoenix, AZ

WEBSITE DETAILS FOR REGISTRATION

<https://www.womeninmining.us/product/women-in-mining-az-september-20th-event>

BIOS OF SPEAKERS

Jessica Solyom, Ph.D., currently holds a dual appointment at ASU as Assistant Research Professor in the School of Social Transformation where she teaches courses on gender and racial representation and justice. She is the Associate Director for the Center for Gender Equity in Science and Technology and serves as an Affiliate faculty member at the Center for Indian Education (ASU). Dr. Solyom has worked with universities, fortune 500 companies, and community education organizations to prepare and train their members for equity-driven initiatives.

Mako Fitts Ward, Ph.D. is a Clinical Assistant Professor in the School of Social Transformation at Arizona State University with over 15 years of experience. Her teaching and research focus on intersectional, feminist analyses of popular culture, specifically urban youth cultures and their impact on contemporary social movements. Ward has been a contributing writer for Huffington Post, The Conversation and Ms. and has published popular and scholarly essays on body ethics and aesthetics among women of color, media and gender images.